Quarterly Court

The County Court of Fayette county met in quarterly session last Taesday, being the regular date for the meeting of the court. There were present 34of the 36 Justice belonging to the court at the present time.

The opening of the court was delayed for a half hour beyond its regular time for alleged purpose of finding a loop hole in the new school law, but many members of the court and citizens believe for the purpose of perfecting a slate to be put thru the court for putting cer- the Christian religion. This is the coudition of the General Fund, of course.

But a small part of the docket was disposed of Tuesday and the court resumed Wednesday morning at 9 and after disposing of the school matter mentioned above proceeded with the

The docket carried this time 140 cases to be disposed of by the court, and in addition there was a large number of miscellaneous matters to be handled as is always the case. The last named consumed all the morning of Tuesday and much other time during the two days the court was in session. Actual work on the docket was carried thru in pretty quick order by the court when it once got to it.

Two of the worst stretches of road in the county received consideration when an appropriation of $1000 was made to levee and gravel Cypress bottom, Stage road, the gravel having been given by A. Weber & Co. from deposits on their land nearby, and the other an increase in the appropriation for work at DeWitt's on the State Line road in the tenth district. This last named appropriation was increased from $1000 to

The 1921 tax rate was fixed at $1.12 on the $100, with the state tax estimated at 22 cents of this sum. Last year the rate was .77 on the $100, and the real and personal aggregate of tax values in the county was $17,000,000. This year the aggregate as fixed by the Equalization Board just completing its work is $11,600,000. This means rough ly that the entire tax this year on real and personal property will be $130. 000, while last year it was $133,000, a very slight decrease for this year. While the valuations were lowered the the rate was raised.

The rate is distributed to the several funds as follows: General fund 301 cents, Elementary school fund 30 cents, High S:bool 6 cents, Special note 7 cents, State School fund 14 cents, Estimated State tax 22 cents, highway 3

Class Record in Tennessee

That Tennessee Jerseys are great producers of butterfat is being proven almost daily by the breaking of state records. C. A. Hutton Dairy Specialist of the Division of Extension, states that there never was so much interest over the the state in cow-testing and Register of Merit work, and further says that Tennessee Jersery breeders are just beginning to find out what arge producers they have.

During the past month nine good records were completed by Tennessee Jerseys. Of these seven exceed their respective class records.

Mr. Hutton states that the cooperadairymen and breeders have learned She was united early in life with the many valuable lessons from this work

Are We Progressing

BY CAPT. T. F. PECK Commissioner of Agriculture

At the time of my first connection with the Tennessee State Fair, ten years ago, we found it necessary, in order to make a creditable exhibit of agricultural products, to go on the market and buy material to round out our displays. We had a fair showing of livestock, but it was practically all from other States. Farmers and live stock producers were seemingly indiffer-

While we had within the States some well bred livestock, our breeders did not care to compete with the professional exhibitors, We also had some professional exhibitors of farm and garden products, grown in plots solely for exhibit purposes. We realized that if we were to make the State Fair serve as a stimulus to better agricul ture and better live stock, we must epof our own producers in the State.

We offered preimums for community exhibits of agricultural producers Th State Department of Agricultural demunity co-sperative effort in agriculture and live stock to the Assistan.
